CNWL is one of the largest trusts in London offering a wide range of health and social care services across ten boroughs. We specialise in caring for people with mental health problems, addictions and learning disabilities, as well as providing Community Health Services to residents in Hillingdon and Camden, and primary care services in a number of prisons.

Vacation students will spend time in the dispensary, accompanying ward pharmacists, and doing project/audit work. This may involve working at different sites and travelling across the trust.
